

The historical maps shown were reproduced from maps predominantly held at the scale adopted for England, Wales and Scotland in the 1840's. In 1854 the 1:2,500 scale was adopted for mapping urban areas; these maps were used to update the 1:10,560 maps. The maps were updated in 1932, all OS maps were based on the Cassini Projection with independent surveys of a single county or group of counties, giving rise to significant inaccuracies in outlying areas. In the late 1947's, a Provisional Edition was produced which updated the 1:10,560 mapping from a number of sources. The maps appear unfinished - with all military camps and other strategic sites removed. These maps were initially overprinted with the National Grid. In 1970, the first 1:10,000 maps were produced using the Transverse Mercator Projection. The revision process continued until recently, with new editions appearing every 10 years or so for urban areas.

In 1854 the 1:2,500 scale was adopted for mapping urban areas, these maps were used to update the 1:10,560 maps. The 1:2,500 scale maps were produced by the Ordnance Survey and the 1:10,560 maps were produced by the Ordnance Survey. The maps were based on the Cassini Projection with independent surveys of a single county or group of counties, giving rise to significant inaccuracies in cutting areas. In the late 1940's a Provisional Edition was produced which updated the 1:10,560 mapping from a number of sources. The maps appear unaltered - with all military camps and other strategic sites removed. These maps were initially overlaid with the National Grid. In 1970, the first 1:10,000 maps were produced using the Transverse Mercator Projection. The revision process continued until recently, with new editions appearing every 10 years or so for urban areas.

The historical maps shown were reproduced from maps predominantly held at the scale adopted for England, Wales and Scotland in the 1840's. In 1854 the 1:2,500 scale was adopted for mapping urban areas, these maps were used to update the 1:10,000 maps. The 1:2,500 maps, however, were not used to update the 1:10,000 maps. The 1:10,000 maps, therefore, are based on the Cassini Projection with independent surveys of a single county or group of counties, giving rise to significant inaccuracies in outlying areas. In the late 1940's, a Provisional Edition was produced which updated the 1:10,000 mapping from a number of sources. Ordinance Survey Plan
Published 1980 - 1984

Source map scale - 1:10,000

The historic maps shown were reproduced from maps predominantly held at the scale adopted for England, Wales and Scotland in the 1940's. In 1854 the 1:250 000 scale was adopted for mapping urban areas; these maps were used to update the 1:100 000 maps. The published data given therefore is often some years later than the surveyed data. Before 1938, all OS maps were based on the Cassini Projection, with independent surveys of a single county or group of counties, giving rise to significant inaccuracies in outlying areas. In the late 1940's a Provisional General Census was produced, which updated the 1:100 000 mapping from a number of sources. The maps appear unfinished – with all military camps and other strategic sites removed. These maps were initially overlaid with the National Grid. In 1970, the first 1:100 000 maps were produced using the Transverse Mercator Projection. The revision process continued until recently, with new editions appearing every 10 years or so for urban areas.
