Description of Proposed Works

Please describe the proposed works

I wanted to get raised steel decking area done in my rear back garden of my house. I have had my garden renovated by professional Landscapers. As this will be the last feature design added to complete my garden..

The whole decking area proposed will be 4mwide x 5.6m length.

The steel posts are 1.62m in length from the tiles shown and 300 cm of the posts is already below ground level covered by tons of mot, sand, cement and post Crete for a strong sublease and the size for each posts are 100mm x 100mm x 3mm steel box for maximum strength and they are galvanised steel posts and finished off in black powder coat.

Theres 6 steel galvanised posts from the ground and one L shaped Angle post running across the back of the rear facing house wall for extra support and there will also be steel joists connecting the whole decking area, so as you can imagine it will be much stronger than traditional wood/timber decking and joists.

There is also 80mm by 80mm steel galvanised frame work going in the middle to connect it all up each will have a gap between them of 40 cm for maximum strength when people are standing on top of the decking area.

Decking material used will be compostie decking.

Here is the picture of the garden and also the decking area diagrams. Hope it helps.

I have attached several cad design images of how the end result will look like and raw drawings and measurements of how the garden looks like at the moment and you can see the steel posts and Wall Angle post installed. And also attached two images of how the steel joists once connected and installed will look like. If you need any more information please let me know. I can provide it.
