

A technical drawing of a rectangular structure, possibly a wall or a large container, divided into five equal-width sections by four vertical dividers. The structure is shown in a perspective view. On the left and right sides, red dimension lines with arrows indicate a height of 18.28 units. The drawing is a black and white line drawing with no shading.