

Noting that the applicant has confirmed the basis and assumptions of the drainage system, and that its ultimate point of discharge has been properly identified as a connection to the existing network, we therefore have no further comments.